Mrs. John Anderson is reported quite sick of bronchial pneumonia.

Friends are quite glad to see Mr. D. M. Lackey out again after quite a sick spell.

The Card Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Annie Herndon on Lexington street.

Notice To Teachers.

The January draft for the teachers has come and I am prepared to pay all who have filed their reports here. J. H. Higgins, Co. Sup't.

Mrs. Marshal Eason, who has been ill for some time, is able to be up again. She is very thankful to her many friends for their kindness during her illness.

News comes that another little preacher has arrived at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Henry N. Faulconer in Philadelphia. May the little man grow up to be as popular as his esteemed father.

Mr. Matt Ellis who died recently at his home in New Castle was quite a popular drummer in this section. He has been coming to Lancaster for many years past and was well known to all of our druggists.

Accidently Shot.

A child of Mr. Hicks, of the northern part of the county was accidently shot through the body with a rifle by her young brother one day this week. We are unable to give particulars, but we hear she is getting along nicely now.

More Movings.

L. L. Walker and wife have taken rooms with Mrs. Geo. D. Robinson; Raymond Hendron has moved to the country and Mr. Riddleberger, of Paint Lick moved to the property vacated by him.

Care of Thanks.

To the kind neighbors and friends of the community, we offer our most sincere thanks for their kindness and help during the last sad hours of sickness and death of husband and father. May the richest blessings of God be returned to each one of them.

Mrs. Mary Dickerson and family.

Bargains in Land.

We have three small tracts of unimproved land for sale at a bargain. One tract of 21 acres, another of 18 acres, another of 13 acres. All well located, lies well, and good land. Can give possession at once. Will sell one tract or all. Terms to suit purchaser. Apply to Hughes & Swinebroad, Lancaster, Ky. 1-21-2t.

Durno, the man who makes you laugh.
County Clerk Wm. Hamilton has been ill of an attack of grip.

J. E. Elmore has accepted a position in H. H. Batson's clothing store.

Mr. T. M. Cardwell, of Harrodsburg, is here representing the State Fire Marshal, and will investigate the burning of the Nuckles' tobacco barn.

Sale of Land.

Hughes & Swinebroad sold for Robert Burnside, 68 acres of land, on the Richmond pike, to R. E. Henry, at $90 per acre.

Prewitt.

Mr. Doc Prewitt, a reputable citizen, age 98 years, a member of the Baptist church, died at his son's on Broadus Branch, last Thursday, and was buried in Lancaster cemetery on Friday.

Wagon's Loaded.

Attorney W. I. Williams, placed his index finger over the muzzle of an air gun that "wasn't loaded." The wound is not serious but the bandage is slightly inconvenient.

Lights On.

It was a most pleasing sight Monday night when our electric lights were turned on. We were in total darkness for about ten days and it was not unusual to see dozens of lanterns on the streets at one time. Here's hoping it will be a long time before we shall be compelled to resort to them again.

Kinnaird.

On Thursday morning as we went to press, we heard the sad news of the death of Mrs. Patsy Kinnaird, that occurred Wednesday night at seven o'clock. The funeral services will be held at the residence, Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. C. Brown, assisted by Eld. F. M. Tindler.

Bowling Alleys.

W. O. Dunlap returned from Cincinnati this week after buying two of the most up-to-date white maple bowling alleys he could find. They will be laid on cork so as to keep down the noise of the ordinary alley. The room recently purchased by J. I. Hamilton from W. T. West will be used for the alleys and work will begin at once to get it in condition.

Deeds and Mortgages.

To give our readers some idea of the volume of real estate transfers made in Garrard county in the last few weeks, we learned from County Clerk, J. W. Hamilton, that there had been 102 deeds and 24 mortgages recorded in his office since January 3rd 1910. This shows how much in demand our farm land and city property are, and looks like there is plenty of money in circulation, with so few mortgages. Of course all mortgages are recorded, but there may be numbers of deeds that will not be recorded for some time.

County Supervisors.

We are unable to give a full account of the work of the board of supervisors this issue, as the recapitulation sheet is not yet made. We are able however to give the raise on the Bryantville district, which is $42,000. Taking this rate over the county the increase will be considerable, and the total value of property will be in excess of any previous list. This should be expected, as we have about 150,000 acres of the most productive land under the sun, yet the vaults in our Court House, that hold the deeds to this valuable land are insecure and inconvenient. Let us have another vote on the bond issue to remodel our Court House.

Miller-Wilson.

The matrimonial bee that has been buzzing around the job department of the Record office lighted Wednesday on the foreman's head, Mr. Leonard N. Miller. Being overly anxious to allow this little insect to successfully do its mission on earth, he left Lancaster Wednesday morning to be guided by his winged companion, to Richmond, where the queen, Miss Fannie Thompson Wilson was in waiting. The happy couple left Richmond on the morning train and were married in Lexington at ten o'clock Wednesday morning. They were accompanied by the groom's sister, Miss Anna Miller and Mr. John Lynch, of Nicholasville.

The writer has had the pleasure of fourteen months business relation with Mr. Miller and each month impresses on us more forcibly his sterling character. Being faithful and conscientious in all his duties, we join the editor of the Climax in saying that "we know success will reward his faithfulness."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wilson, of Richmond, and is a beautiful young lady beloved by all who know her. She will be remembered pleasantly here by all who have had the good fortune of hearing her sing at the various churches.

They will return to Lancaster the latter part of this week and live on Richmond street, where the groom has fitted a lovely home.

Here's hoping that "Happy" and his wife will be happy through life.

Monday is court day. DON'T FORGET TO PAY THAT $1. YOU OWE THE RECORD.

Mrs. J. Roe Young is out again after several weeks illness.

Miss Sallie Tillett has been sick to some days past with muscular rheumatism.

S. D. Turner sold his stock of groceries on Campbell street to J. M. Turner and Harvey Lee, who will continue the business.

Alexander Walker purchased the lot of H. B. Northcott's on Stanford street for $1,750, upon which he will build an immense warehouse.

Sale of City Property.

J. I. Hamilton bought of W. T. West his store room on North side of Public Square, formerly occupied by Misses Miller & Ziegler, for $3,000.

Judge Homer W. Batson and Mrs. Batson, of Louisville, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a recent visitor in their home. It is hoped little Miss Batson will make a stay of indefinite length.

The number of wagon loads of tobacco that are coming in can scarcely be estimated. It truly looks like Garrard is coming to the front in handling this commodity. From this time on our battle cry will be "The Land of Now."

New Mill in Operation.

The new Garrard Milling Company has completed the work on the machinery and are now turning out three excellent brands of flour and meal. They have not stood back on expense but have put in the best and latest improved machinery and will have a stock of flour and meal ready for sale by the first of next week. They invite all to come and inspect their products.

Could be Improved.

If the report is true that the L. & N. railroad is going to raise the track near the depot, would it not be a good opportunity for the chairman of City Development Committee to do some good work in trying to prevail on them to run the switch so it would not have to be crossed by passengers going to and from the coach? Try your hand Mr. Logan. Then—Mayor Logan, don't let your street committee forget the sidewalks to the depot. A bad impression is made on strangers entering our town from the station before they get on the Public Square.

Two Probable Residence Additions.

It is rumored that there is a strong probability of Lancaster having two new residence additions, one on Richmond street and the other on Stanford street. The one on Richmond street will extend South from the intersection of Richmond street and the L. & N. rail road, through the lands of Mrs. Dorcas Walker, deceased and will probably connect the Crab Orchard and Richmond pikes. If the plans materialize, this can be made one of Lancaster's best residence streets, since the lots will face East and West and will have a natural slope from the street back on either side.

The other addition is proposed by W. B. Burton, who contemplates putting down a side walk the entire length of his land on Stanford street, South of Mrs. Emma Higginbotham, and dividing the land into lots suitable for residences. This also will make many desirable lots, since the city has recently put electric lights this far out and water too will be accessible.

The question of buying suitable lots on which to build, has been a serious one in our town for several years, and now that our town is growing and the people over the state are learning of our superior school advantages, it behooves all men who have the city's welfare at heart to help push these proposed additions to a successful end.

We wish to suggest that if these two additions are successfully added that the owners of the land incorporate a clause in the sale of the lots making it compulsory for the purchaser to put up a residence to cost not less than $1,500.

RELIGIOUS.

The Presbyterian Mite Society met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mattie D. Duncan.

The Union services were held at the Presbyterian church Rev. O. P. Bush preaching the sermon.

Rev. C. C. Brown preached a most excellent sermon Sunday morning on "Foreign Missions."

Brother Tindler's many friends will be glad to hear that he will be able to teach his class and preach Sunday morning, though he does not feel able to preach Sunday evening.

Five thousand laymen, representing practically all of the Protestant churches in New York, voted at a mass-meeting in the Hippodrome Sunday afternoon to increase foreign missionary offerings of Greater New York by $325,000 during the coming twelve months. The amount to be donated this year will approximate $725,000. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and marked the closing of the Greater New York convention. Nineteen cities, in which conventions have been held, have pledged an increase of $1,750,000. A series of meetings will begin this week in the large cities of the South.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce Hon. Harvey Helm a candidate to succeed himself in Congress, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Warning For Legislators.

It is a dangerous thing to have power and authority, if not used in a manner consistent with the will of the people, who hold all power and only delegate it for a time, withdrawing it if not properly exercised. The Democrats easily hold the power in the Legislature, and, if that body fails to do a few things that a majority of the people want done, the next Assembly, Governor and all will be republican. We had but few meetings last session and the people held the republicans responsible for the defeat of the county unit bill, and they gave us a large majority, this time. Ponder well before you turn it down, for they know that you can pass it and they are determined to have it.

There are many other things they want. The school system should be far removed from politics, women should be given the right of suffrage in educational matters and everything necessary should be done to bring about a system of education equal to that of other states. Our tax system has kept capital and many needed enterprises from our State, which has inexhaustible resources and limitless possibilities. The Tax Commission has submitted a report, showing clearly the disadvantages and burdens that our tax system inflicts upon us, and recommends a constitutional amendment, to correct those evils, which should be submitted to the people. Our school laws, our tax laws, our prison conditions and many other things have added a stigma on our proud old Commonwealth, and the people are struggling to have it removed. If the Democrats go off on mouse tracks, and ignore these vital issues, they will be held responsible and never be called upon again to serve their country.

Desirable Legislation.

We heartily approve of the bills introduced by Senator Thomas, as tending toward much needed reform. One proposes to give the Judge discretion in fixing the penalty in felonies, leaving the jury to render a verdict of guilt or innocence. Another amends the present law, so that persons less hardened in crime shall be allowed to amend the parole and have the penitentiary as a school for the practice of granting political purposes and on the other hand, the sanitary conditions of the prison are also to be improved, and steps, consistent with the improvement and enlightenment, are to be taken in order to reclaim the felons. The States are doing. We should improve this course, for if every one were unwell there are many who would have a direct and personal interest in the improvement of prison conditions. The growth and development of society demand a putting of those old practices which are the result of ignorance, malice and barbarism.

It has been reported that the Lewis Y. Leavelle fund, will earn $100.00 for this year. If such is the case it seems to us that enough will be realized to assist very materially in paying the expenses of the Graded School. In addition to the earnings of the above fund, we understand the school will have its per capita of about $1.00 from the state, the revenue from taxation of 25c on the hundred dollars, and tuition paid by scholars living outside this district. Surely the school trustees can manage to save a surplus to pay for any bonded indebtedness, without a cent additional tax. If the people will vote the question, we urge the people to demand the question. We heartily endorse the issue and we know the community well enough to believe they take sufficient pride in having an up-to-date school building. The health of the children is the health of the future. We should have the three R's, (reading, writing, arithmetic) in the cabin of our generation should be taught, in uncomfortable

A Good Law.
Gov. Marshall, in commending the present uniform accounting law of Indiana and its effectiveness, said: "We will be able to show, before the law is in operation a year, that the law will save the State as much as $500,000 a year. When the public Treasury is properly conserved it means lower taxes. When public accounting and book keeping are placed on an equal plane with the system in use in well-regulated private concerns it will mean that public office will attract a higher grade of men. It would also reduce the temptation to default. It is a business proposition that Indiana and other States have neglected too long. It is another step and a long one toward the institution of actual business methods in public office, where there is need of the best business methods obtainable."

The following bill has been introduced in Congress and it will meet with the hearty approval of the news paper fraternity, and all those who favor justice to every body, as it seeks to keep the Government from competing with the printer, who is the only one with whom it offers competition. We look for a speedy passage of the bill.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that from and after the approval of this Act it shall be unlawful for the Post-Office Department, or any officer, head of bureau, or chief of division thereof, to print or have printed, or sell or offer to sell any stamped envelopes bearing upon it a printed direction giving the name of any individual, firm, or company, or any number of any post-office box or drawer, or any street number or the name of any building to which it shall be returned if uncalled for or undelivered: Provided, that this shall not apply to those envelopes printed with a return card left blank, as to name, address, box, drawer, street number, or building, and which only give the name of the town or city, with the State, district or Territory."

Notwithstanding the poor appear to have many privations, hardships and troubles, yet they have many advantages over the rich. They are not annoyed by agents for silver and gold mining stocks, investment campaigns, standard literature &c. Their relatives are not anxious to see them die, as no estate will be left. They are not annoyed by a host of so called friends, who profess their admiration purely for the purpose of being benefited in some way. The chief advantage lies in the fact that they can sleep at night—not being in doubt as to whether their dealings have oppressed any one; nor are they bound to worry over their stocks, bonds and securities. Take it all in all, there is but little difference, as to advantages, if we live as we should.

Following an informal session of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, Representative Hammond, of Minnesota, has framed a bill to allow national banks to loan not to exceed 50 per cent of their savings deposits on improved farm lands, under regulations to be prescribed by the Controller of the currency. We fail to see why this privilege should not be given. It is the best character of security and the banks are at expense, and as there is much responsibility, in holding such funds, it follows that some compensation should be allowed.

Move to the Farm.

Too many are leaving the country and going to the cities, where they fail to produce the necessities of life. There are more consumers than producers, and hence farm products are in demand, the supply not being equal to the natural increase in population and the increase brought about by open immigration. The farmer is at the bat and we are glad of it, for he is the bone and sinew of our wealth, and he lives the only happy and independent life.

A leading politician gathered his followers in one section of the county court house to hear one of the campaign orators, telling them that when he stamped they must applaud loudly to show their strength. While the orator was talking on a dry logical plot the leader knocked his pipe on a seat to remove the ashes and his henchmen roared like so many lions and thundered against the floor like battering-rams. This incident shows the necessity of intellectual qualification for suffrage.

Our habits and our control over them determine our future, for happiness or misery, in time and eternity. When deprived of objects of lust and unwholesome pleasure, as we must be, we will be miserable or in hell. If we cultivate the good we will be happy, or in heaven.

Our representative, J. O. Bogle, is on the following committees, in the Legislature: Public Offices, Tuberculosis, Assignment of Committee Rooms, State Prison and House of Reform, Insurance, Federal and State Constitutional Amendments.

We join the Kentucky Press in expressing deep regrets that Col. W. F. Walton has again left the journalistic field. We hope that after he takes a vacation he will again take the editorial chair for we will miss his brilliant editorials.

Every act of life is induced by a selfish motive, but not always by a mercenary motive. Our acts of charity are selfish, because they gratify our sense of right and duty.

Concerning Our School.

Some time in the early 80's probably in 1883, Mr. Peeples, pastor of the Methodist church, suggested that the old Dunlap residence be bought and converted into a Female College. The suggestion was acted upon after a discussion of the matter in the local newspaper. A public meeting was called when a few public spirited citizens subscribed a fund to organize the Garrard Female College. This college opened under auspicious circumstances in 1884. The history of the institution is familiar to the older citizens. After eleven years, the college proving unsuccessful finally, the people demanded a Graded School. The editor of the "Central Ky. News" M. D. Hughes, kept the subject before the public in his advocacy of such a school until the present Graded School opened in 1895. If our information is correct, Mr. B. F. Hudson was the first person in our community to advocate the Graded School and was on the first board of Trustees, which office he held for many years. Mr. Hudson has always been a friend of the school and has used his influence in keeping up the high standard advocated.

The mantle of M. D. Hughes has fallen upon his son Sauley, worthy successor to a model editor, and we predict for him a bright future. Already he has shown enterprise and wit. In the upbuilding and uplifting of his native town and county he has displayed unusual wisdom and is as versatile and resourceful as his brother Robert, who started in with the Record office many years ago.

The present editor of the Record can accomplish a great deal for our city if he can succeed in providing a reasonable doubt that we also need a new school building.

The Secretary of the Board of Trustees, in response to many inquiries, submits the following extract from the will of the late Lewis Y. Leavelle, who so generously remembered our community.

"I will and bequeath the remainder of my estate in trust for the benefit of the Lancaster Graded Common School, (white) and direct that the Garrard County Court shall appoint three men as trustees to invest and manage said fund. Said men must be of high moral character and good financial ability and give bond for performance of their duty and may be paid a reasonable sum for their services, if they so desire. THE EARNINGS OF THIS TRUST SHALL ONLY BE USED FOR EACH YEAR'S EXPENSES OF SAID SCHOOL, PROVIDED ANY BONDED INDEBTEDNESS NOW EXISTING MAY BE PAID OUT OF IT. Reports of trustees every two years shall be made to said court and recorded. The court shall appoint and fill any vacancy that may occur in said board."

Let us pray.

Saved At Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Ridge N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing 40 pounds; growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine—Electric Bitters—cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at R. E. McRoberts.

General News.

Gov. Wilson is in Washington to attend the conference of Governors and declares that he will have nothing to do with the fight for Republican office in this State.

A tentative agreement has been reached to appropriate $60,000,000 for the completion of the Ohio River improvements to be expended in sums of $5,000,000 a year for twelve years.

Miss Eleanor Williams, once nurse in the home of John D. Rockefeller and in that of his brother-in-law, W. C. Rudd, died in Cleveland, O., Saturday night. She was 100 years old.

In handing out offices carrying salaries aggregating $300,000 a year Mayor Gaynor, of New York, has appointed only one Tammany man. Murphy has paid the Mayor many visits, but they have brought forth no patronage results.

The first convention for the study of the hookworm will be held in Atlanta this week and will be attended by over 200 physicians, three representatives of the Rockefeller million-dollar fund and the many other prominent men of science.

Suit was filed in the United States Circuit Court in Chicago, charging that the Federal corporation tax law recently passed by Congress is unconstitutional and seeking an injunction to restrain the directors of the Northern Trust Company of Chicago from paying the tax.

Another "melon" of large proportions—the distribution of $20,000,000 in common stock—is to be given the stockholders of the International Harvester Company. The directors of the company have recommended that the entire $20,000,000 of stock be placed on a 4 per cent. dividend basis, commencing next April.

An Arkansas land owner offers to give 4,000 acres of rich bottom land in that State the "unemployed" without reservations or conditions. He made the offer at a meeting largely attended by what is termed the "officially unemployed" otherwise "hoboes," who drank the free coffee and cheered the speeches.

The will of the late D. Ozden Mills, of New York, disposes of his large estate by division equally between his son and daughter, Ozden Mills and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, wife of the American Ambassador to the Court of St. James. About $400,000 is left for charitable purposes.

Provoked by published charges that the Burley Tobacco Society controlled the courts and the legislature of Kentucky, Representative J. Campbell Cantrell, in an impassioned speech in the House, defended the people of the State as law-abiding. He declared that in opposing the tobacco trust they had exercised their rights in a lawful manner. Mr. Cantrell contended that as there was but one buyer of tobacco, the raisers of that product were justified in combining so that there would be but one seller.

Changed Her Opinion.

"Then I am to understand that this is your final answer, Miss Stubbles?" "My final answer." "Nothing can move you?" "Nothing."

"Then my life will be a lonely one, and my fate a harsh one, for my uncle with whom I live has just died and left me—"

"That fact somewhat alters the case, Henry. I cannot be harsh to one who has sustained such recent bereavement. If I could believe that you are sincere."

"Oh Susan!" "Do not squeeze me so hard, Henry, Your poor uncle! Was he long ill?" "Three days."

"It is too bad! You say he left you?" "Yes; he has left me!" "How much?" "How much? I said he had left me. He had nothing else to leave. I am alone in the world now, homeless, penniless; but with you by my side—why she's fainted!"

Mrs. M. Belle Burnside.

Guiley.
In loving remembrance of Helen Miles Guiley, born October 24, 1883, died January 12, 1910. Wife of Jesse Guiley and daughter of A. C. Miles and Mary Lillard Miles, (deceased).

Two sisters, Fannie Mae, and Agnes and one brother, Lillard Miles, are left to mourn their loss.

She was a graduate of the class of 1905, Beaumont College, Harrodsburg; on January 20, of last year, was the happy bride of Mr. Jesse Guiley. On new years' day, little Robert Lillard came to share their love and complete the happy union. How proud was the young mother, when she looked on her little darling and saw "a perfect babe."

At 10 o'clock, January 12, after the shades of night had settled round, came that darker and deeper shadow over this happy family. Just ten months after embracing her sister and calling her name, Fannie Mae, the death angel claimed our dear Helen.

What a solemn and impressive scene. Grouped around the bed, were the faithful and devoted young husband, two sisters, yes, three for Bessie Guiley was all a true sister could have been: (Their devotion to each other had been, for a long while, a subject remarked upon, also a devoted family, all of whom were deeply grieved as they saw the precious life of one so dear, slowly ebbing away. What a holy place! The close of a Christian's life. Serenely she passed away, the golden chord of life was sundered and she was gone. Funeral services were held in her home by Rev. Bush, pastor of the church of which she was a loyal member.

Our sympathies go out to all those who mourn, but how we wish we could lighten the sorrows as they seem so heavy to the young husband. Eleven short months of supreme happiness with a bright, cheerful companion who greeted each home, returning with a smile. May these fond memories help him bear his bereavement.

On the eve of her death, she kissed her father and whispered "The way is clear." Such a patient sufferer, ever hopeful, never murmuring. "To know how was to love her." A universal favorite and possessed of a remarkably cheery disposition, a highly cultivated mind and heart—she was capable and helpful in Sunday School and church work. Her influence will ever live in the hearts of those who enjoyed the sweet pleasure of her society.

While those beautiful hands are resting on that pulseless body today, while her form lies at rest under a flower laden sod in the Lancaster cemetery, her pure noble soul, has put on immortality, beyond the "starlit dome."

And the draperies of mourning and dreariness of bereavement, may the loved ones have the fortitude to endure this sorrow and be constrained to look forward with full confidence to the joyful reunion with our own dear Helen. Her death is one of the trials, we may not understand but "now we see through a glass dimly, but then, face to face."

Interesting Program.
The Mary Walker Price Chapter of the U. D. C. held a very interesting memorial service Wednesday afternoon in the parlor of the Hotel Kengarn, as a tribute to the two leading Confederate heroes, Lee and Jackson. The first feature of the exercises was a prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Fannie Farra, followed by reading of the ritual, by the entire chapter; then Mrs. Mattie P. Frisbie delivered, in an impressive and dignified manner, an address outlining the origin, growth and general design of the U. D. C. organization; Mrs. B. F. Hudson, historian of the Chapter, delivered an interesting and well-written paper, "A Life Sketch of Lee," a beautiful selection of music was next in order, succeeded by a reading of the poem, "Mrs. Robert is Asleep," given in a touching modulation of voice by Mrs. S. C. Denney; "Aftermath," was next contributed by Miss Mary Doty; "A Life Sketch of Jackson," was furnished by Mrs. S. D. Cochran, followed by a song "Boys of the Sixties," well rendered by Misses Katie Conn and Lucy Doty; a reading of the poem "Death of Jackson," showed fine elocutionary training on the part of Miss Sophronia Fox; "A Tribute to Lee by Great Soldiers, Statesman, and Divines," was a choice and scholarly address by Mrs. F. P. Frisbie; Father Ryan's matchless poetic tribute "March of the Deathless Dead," was pathetically recited by Mrs. E. C. G. Lues; and the closing and most enthusiastic feature of the entire program was then contributed by the united voices of the whole membership joining in the inspiring strains of that stirring musical composition, "Dixie."

BREW THAT STARTED STRIKE
Fearful Concoction Responsible for Trouble Among Women of Cigar Factory.

There never was such a strike as that of the 100 women employed in a cigar factory just across the river from New York. All Hungarians, they are as hussy as catamounts and have the same regard for the sacredness of human life that a polar bear shows. None of them can speak English and no one dares to get close enough to them either to find out what their demands are or to tell them that they have been accepted. All any one knows is that they are on strike and likely to stay so. The proprietors of the factory are said to be considering the wisdom of starting another factory in San Francisco and letting the strikers take this one apart, if they want to.

The strike started when some inspired idiot at a Hungarian wedding built a concoction to which he gave—in Hungary—the name of "lightning conductor." Local tradition holds that this brew is composed of gin, orange bitters, svenska punch, beer, new cider, creme de menthe, absinthe and rum, all mixed in a tin washtub with roast apples floating in it. That recipe may not be absolutely accurate, but whatever the lightning conductor is made of, the results were always the same, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star.

After the first drink the proprietors tried to kick the bride. At the second drink she sought to set fire to the kitchen and at the third drink she pulled her old-country shawl about her round, placid face, grabbed a bat in one hand and started out howling down the street, smashing at every living thing in sight. After the fourth drink a strike of clear rollers seemed almost ridiculously easy.

The 100 amazons that once rolled cigars in the factory have seized every avenue of approach to that building. They patrol night and day, keeping up big bonfires all night long round which they sit and drink i. e. The 15 police of New Brunswick have been whipped to a cream custard twice and finally gave the battle up. Nothing but a Gatling gun could possibly have any effect upon these women. A delegation of townspeople that called on Chief O'Connell got a flat refusal to interfere. "I'll not sacrifice my men," he said, glaring at the delegates. "But I'll tell you—if I can find out who built that lightning conductor I'll hang him on a street corner as an example."

He distinguished himself as a sire in

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

A clean horse is soonest curried.

Better a poor horse than a poor auto.

Chickens kept confined should be fed a noon meal.

Cheap harness often proves an expensive investment.

A little axle grease applied where it belongs saves horseflesh.

Lots of people have automobile aspirations and oat team efficiency.

Good ventilation is one of the first essentials to good health of dairy animals.

Good management is the only thing which will make hens pay a profit every month.

A cold roast for dinner and a hot roast between meals turns the mills of the divorce courts.

It should not be one great breed of horses against another so much as the well bred against the scrub.

Whenever a large limb is sawed from the tree the wound should at once be covered with wax or thick paint.

Fall plowing that is well done cuts
the labor of preparing the seed bed next spring—cuts it squarely in two in my opinion.

Diversified intensive farming is the only kind that will pay the money which buys autos and other conveniences for the farmer.

A few hours' work with a steady team and a road scraper will save dollars' worth of manure and leave the barnyard in dandy shape for the winter's chores.

When the consumer can rest assured that his milk won't have dirt and filth settled in the bottom of the glass from which he drinks, he will pay high for his milk.

There is a mistaken notion among some breeders as to the value of old sires among horses and other live stock. It has been noted that good stallions if kept right are valuable for very many years.

Best soil for alfalfa is one with a surface sufficiently heavy to retain an abundance of moisture and furnish a good storehouse for plant food; one with a fairly deep subsoil sufficiently porous to allow good underdrainage.

Fall lettuce and other small crops are welcomed in the average home and the trouble of growing them is extremely profitable. Just another way of utilizing those out of the way places in fence corners and close to buildings.

Clover is very valuable and where clover hay is fed to stock there will be abundance of shattering for the poultry, whether fed dry in a clean dry place, or whether steamed, or fed in a bran mash, the value of clover shat-terings is greater than many think.

Some of the corn shocks will twist and go down before you are ready to use them. If such shocks have already been damaged by rain, husk them out, place the corn and fodder in small piles, let dry for two or three days and then store. If they are left in the shock both will mould and rot.

Ground limestone is better than burnt limestone. Two tons per acre may be applied if the soil is rather acid, but if extremely acid three, four and even five tons per acre, once in three or four years. It may be thrown upon the ground broadcast, and more of it should be applied on the hills.

It is not necessary to inoculate the soil for cowpox, but it is necessary for soy beans. It is much easier to inoculate the soil for soy beans than for alfalfa, but it is just as necessary.
Inoculating once is sufficient; it may be done by putting a pint of the soil containing the bacteria in the drill box and letting it sift out with the seed.

On the majority of soils it is safe to spread manure in the fall, either fall or spring plowing. If manure has been accumulating around the barn yard or in the manure shed
it is a good time now to draw it out and spread it upon the land. In no way does manure give as large returns as when spread on grass land,
and there is no better time than fall.
The fall rains and winter snows will soak it well into the soil where it will be available for the grass roots
when they start in the spring.

Comparisons Are Dangerous.
"A chap told me this morning, that I looked the image of you." "Where is the idiot? I'll pound the life out of him." "Too late. I killed him."

Interesting Question.
"Why it is," asks the Philosopher of Folly, "that you never meet a brilliant man or a clever woman without having to stop and wonder why he or she happened to marry the dense one he or she did?"

HUCKEYE.

Miss Emma Simpson, who has been to Colorado for Tuberculosis, has returned home.

Mr. John Bogle was up from Frankfort last week to see home folks.

Mr. Alex Miles will start to Texas,
soon, for his health.

It was learned Wednesday that Mr.
John Dickerson who had been in poor health a good many years and an invalid several months had grown suddenly worse. Wednesday night neighbors and friends came to see if there was any little service to tender, but one glance was evidence (to express in words he loved) that he would soon be "Gathered at the River." At 5:30 the last was breathed so gently, yes just as his many friends had treated him in his years of declining health. Mr.
Dickerson was married 22 years ago to Miss Mary Ray, daughter of Dr. Wm.
Ray, deceased. To this union were born 6 children 5 whom are living, Edward, Katie, Mamie, Jennie and Mrs.
Geo. Ray. The wife and daughters administered to his comforts with tireless energy. While doing to some extent on little Edward the only son, he was not much less fond of the daughters. One of his chiefest pleasures being in having his two youngest daughters, Mamie and Katie, sing his favorite church songs, in healthful days joining in himself as he possessed a fine tenor voice. Mr. Dickerson was a church going man, of the Baptist faith, and as said by a devoted church member, "He was a man that attended to his own affairs." His business was that of a drummer and after his declining health prevented traveling he was still urged by firms to resume his work for he was zealous in business.

Nerve Timing.

A strange instance of the care and minuteness with which the human body is now studied, in the effort to understand its powers and functions better, is furnished by a paper read recently at a meeting of the Royal society in London on the "Rapidity of the Nervous Impulse in Tall and Short Individuals." Even the difference in time required for a "nervous telegram" to traverse the bodies of different persons is regarded as a matter of scientific importance.

A series of observations has shown that the length of the nerve does not affect the velocity with which an impulse passes between the brain and the extremities, and consequently that more time is needed if the path is long than if it is short. It follows that a short man should feel a ster-on his corns quicker than a tall man;
but the difference is so slight that the offender has no better chance of escape in one case than in the other.—

Pictures of Presidents.

In every department, and in fact in every bureau, are to be found the pictures of the former heads of those departments or bureaus. Pictures of all of the presidents are not in the White House, but many are to be found there.

Neither are the pictures of the wives of all the presidents, those who occupied the position of "first lady of the land," to be found in the White House, though a goodly number have been preserved. It is rather a notable fact that the pictures of nearly all the women who have graced the position of mistress of the White House are placed in the lower rooms and corridors. This region might be termed the basement, though it scarcely merits that position in architecture.

All of these corridors are used at the big functions at the White House, and no doubt more people see the pictures of the women than would be the case if they were hung in the upper rooms.

Illustrious Descent.

It is a desirable thing to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors.—Plutarch.

Women.

One woman can meet another woman for two minutes, and describe what she had on for two hours.—New York Times.

Farming in Egypt.

A sailor on board the Rhode Island
on the trip of the battleship fleet around the world last year wrote from Egypt describing graphically the wonders of the pyramids and other interesting things in that country. Of the farming there he says:

"From the statue of Rameses the Great we went for a long ride over the splendidly irrigated land to the tombs. The farming land was quite a sight.

"They have brought corn from the United States and raise it here in great quantities. They also raise fine wheat, clover, cabbages, lettuce and nearly all vegetables.

"Did you ever see an Egyptian plow in a museum? They use that kind here now. As a rule they are drawn by bullocks, but I saw them plowing with camels, bulls, a bull and a camel and also by hand.

"It was a strange sight. Quite different from the riding gang plow they use at home."
